

“Evidence of the Impact of Science Education in Attracting Young People Towards Science Studies and Science-related Careers”

Discussion in groups

Session Chair:

Associate Professor Regina Soobard

Purpose

Discussion session allows participants to express and share ideas around the content of presentations, coming up in the seminar, and the goals of the SciCar project with audience.

Guiding questions

- 1) How should school education prepare students for dealing with challenging issues not even known at the moment?
- 2) How and why to raise students' motivation towards science and science learning in science education?
- 3) Which are the essential competencies needed in science-related careers in the future?
- 4) What can universities do to attract undergraduates to undertake research in science education?
